Design and Development

Begins with research and the collection of photographs and manufacturer's drawings of the prototype. Hundreds of working drawings for a single kit are made in the big air conditioned drafting room. Here too, is carried on the meticulous engineering required for working parts and the perfect fit of all joining parts.

Master Model Shop

The master model shop creates the master models from the engineers' designs.

It produces the master patterns in wood finished to tolerances of a few ten-thousandths of an inch, used in making the steel molds from which plastic parts are made. Only skilled personnel, with special aptitude for model making are employed in this shop.

Mold Shop

Here is installed the most modern equipment used in intricate tool and die making processes. Staffed with 26 expert craftsmen, with a combined experience of more than 300 years of making molds for plastic molding. The molds for a single Monogram kit have cost as much as $150,000.00. The average cost is well over $40,000.00.

Plastic Molding

Row after row of giant presses are in operation around the clock, six days every week. The molding department operates with three eight-hour shifts every day except Sunday.
